Description of College Station As Given By Associated Press

(By Associated Press)

College Station, Texas, June 28.—College Station, Texas, is just about what its name says. It is a station on the H. and T. C. Railroad and the I. and G. N. It also is strictly a college. Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College is here, and is practically the whole community. "Which one of these buildings is the A. and M. College?" This is by no means an unusual question from a person stepping off the train for his first visit to the place as he approaches the main campus and glancing around him sees on all sides modern fireproof buildings of large proportions. Looking only on the outside he is unable to identify dormitories, laboratories and recitation buildings. In the aggregate the appearance is that of a small but complete city. Surprise is manifested when the question is answered that all compose the A. and M. College of Texas and that the forty large buildings lining the drives, the residences grouped about and the acres of farm and timber land extending miles in every direction are all the property of the state of Texas and are used exclusively by the A. and M. College for educating young men in all the various phases of engineering and agriculture and veterinary medicine and training them in military science and tactics in order that they may take their places as leaders in the basic industry of the state. Situated as it is, one hundred miles from any large city, the College has defied the intimate acquaintance of its supporters, the people of Texas. Once in two years when the budget carrying the estimates of its financial needs for operation and additional equipment during the next biennium is presented to the legislature by President W. B. Bizzell and publicity is given it at Austin, the general public gets some rather incomplete ideas about the proportions of the institution maintained at College Station. This evidence of the extent of the the institution's operations together with the publicity carried by the newspapers and magazines forms the sum of the knowledge possessed by the mass of Texans regarding their A. and M. College. In addition to the Houston and Texas Central and the International and Great Northern railways, College Station is connected by interurban with Bryan. Hundreds of young men are at the college many months of the year, the majority of them taking military training. One of the sights of the school is the way the young men form in line at meal time, and march into the dining hall by companies to the music of the excellent military band maintained at the institution. The interurban line from Bryan winds through a pretty country, especially in the spring and early summer. Trees are plentiful, and the fields are full of many colored wild flowers. The electric car stops at one end of the campus in front of two frame buildings in which strangers may obtain temporary lodging. A wide drive winds from the track through the campus, around and between the various large buildings. Some of the structures are old but most of them are large and modern, and new ones are under construction. During the school hours, the shops resemble industrial plants, and the agricultural students are given training of practical and every day farming, stock raising and management.

Williams of the Confederate Home at Austin, who said Dr. Bizzell should be sent to the United States Senate for his broad vision of national affairs. Many patriotic songs were sung at the sessions and "America" was sung standing and "Dixie" was loudly cheered by the old heroes who "wore the grey". A full program appears elsewhere in the Eagle.

Capt. Hanna's Address. In response to the address of welcome, Capt. J. K. P. Hanna of Calvert said: "Your honor the Mayor of Bryan. Daughters of the Confederacy Veterans and Sons of Confederate Veterans and Friends Generally: The spirit of hospitality is dead, a wave of commercialism has swept it out of existence, so said a literary shrew some time ago who unfortunately for him was not present at our meeting last year to have heard the invitation given us by representative citizens of Bryan, he would probably have revised his expression. In fact the invitation was given with such eloquence and feeling that the cities of San Antonio and Alto which were in nomination were withdrawn and Bryan selected by acclamation: you can look into the time worn and war beaten faces of these venerable men and see grateful appreciation in every line, for the many courtesies and the warm hearted true Southern hospitality always extended to us by Bryan."

(Special to the Bryan Eagle)

St. Louis, June 28.—Cheek to cheek dancing is described as the devil's masterpiece by Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform League in an address here today before conference of welfare workers. He declared the penalty for disorderly conduct in the automobile should be confiscation of the car by law. He said no nation could survive long if its lax morals allowed cheek to cheek dancing and unchaperoned night automobile riding. He said the parents of the United States were allowing thousands of girls to go to ruin and nearly 75,000 girls disappear every year and are never heard of as they go from city to city to live in hotels under management of the porters and bell boys. The death rate of these girls is very high and growing larger.

The Fifty-first Annual reunion of Hood's Texas Brigade was called to order at Carnegie Library Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock by Secretary S. E. Eberstadt, of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce, who introduced Rev. S. Moylan Bird, of the Entertainment committee, who presided at the preliminary session. The officers of the Brigade are: Capt. W. C. Walsh, of Austin, president; Capt. J. C. Roberts, of Arcadia, vice president. Rev. W. E. Copeland, of Rockdale, Chaplain and Miss Katie Daffan, of Houston, life-secretary. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Tyler Haswell, President W. H. Cole, of Chamber of Commerce, General H. B. Stoddard for the Confederate Veterans and Mrs. A. J. Buchanan for the Daughters of the Confederacy. Responses were made by Capt. J. K. P. Hanna, of Calvert, and his address appears elsewhere in the Eagle. Miss Katie Daffan, the life secretary arrived in Bryan Monday night and was met at the depot by a reception committee and given welcome to Bryan. The committee was composed of the Daughters of the Confederacy and Veterans. At the opening of the re-union this morning Miss Daffan, who had just returned from the great Confederate Re-union at Richmond read a number of letters and telegrams from absent members of Hood's Brigade.

Battle of Gaines Mill.
In speaking of the meeting today Miss Daffan said on June 27, 1862, the battle of Gaines Mill was fought, sixty years ago in which Hood's Brigade displayed such wonderful bravery in winning the victory. Capt. Walsh called on a number to give reminiscent experiences of that great battle.

Commander Smith Delayed.

Dr. Bizzell Made Historical Address

For Veterans
Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of A. and M. College delivered the Annual Historical Address, being introduced in eloquent words by Miss Katie Daffan. After Dr. Bizzell's address upon motion of Miss Daffan and seconded by Capt. Walsh, Dr. Bizzell was elected an honorary member of Hood's Brigade and his address will be furnished the Brigade. It dealt with the historical side of the Confederacy of the 60's and showed conclusively that the South had a legal and moral right to withdraw from the Union. Dr. Bizzell's address was highly praised by a number of the veterans and especially Capt. G. W. Williams of the Confederate Home at Austin, who said Dr. Bizzell should be sent to the United States Senate for his broad vision of national affairs. Dr. Bizzell was elected an honorary member of Hood's Brigade at the close of his speech. The other honorary members at Bryan are: General H. B. Stoddard, Judge W. C. Davis and Lee J. Rountree, of Bryan.

Secretary Eberstadt announced that there would be a street entertainment in Bryan tonight in honor of the veterans and Rev. Bird stated that the Bryan Rotary Club would give them a complimentary luncheon at 12 o'clock Wednesday at College and automobiles would take them out to College. Many patriotic songs were sung at the sessions and "America" was sung standing and "Dixie" was loudly cheered by the old heroes who "wore the grey". A full program appears elsewhere in the Eagle.

Capt. Hanna's Address.

In response to the address of welcome, Capt. J. K. P. Hanna of Calvert said: "Your honor the Mayor of Bryan. Daughters of the Confederacy Veterans and Sons of Confederate Veterans and Friends Generally: The spirit of hospitality is dead, a wave of commercialism has swept it out of existence, so said a literary scholar some time ago who unfortunately for him was not present at our meeting last year to have heard the invitation given us by representative citizens of Bryan, he would probably have revised his expression. In fact the invitation was given with such eloquence and feeling that the cities of San Antonio and Alto which were in nomination were withdrawn and Bryan selected by acclamation; you can look into the time worn and war beaten faces of these venerable men and see grateful appreciation in every line, for the many courtesies and the warm hearted true Southern hospitality always extended to us by Bryan."

HOME MAKERS' CLUB REST FOR SUMMER

The Home Makers' Club for federal students' wives has voted to disband for the summer months and meet for reorganization on the first Thursday afternoon after the opening of the term at A. & M. Although it was late when we organized this year those who attended the meetings feel that the time was well spent and that a start has been made toward a good active club year beginning in September.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank the members of the Extension Service and others in Bryan and College who have assisted us by giving lectures or demonstrations. We would also express our appreciation to those citizens of Bryan who have granted us the use of a public building for meetings and to the editors of the Eagle and the Bulletin for courtesy in printing our announcements.

SPEAKER STRONG AGAINST CHEEK-TO-CHEEK DANCING

Dr. Crafts Before St. Louis Workers Declares Cheek To Cheek Dancing and Automobiles Ruin 75,000 Girls Annually—Calls Parents To Account.

(Special to the Bryan Eagle)
St. Louis, June 28.—Cheek to cheek dancing is described as the devil's masterpiece by Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform League in an address here today before conference of welfare workers. He declared the penalty for disorderly conduct in the automobile should be confiscation of the car by law. He said no nation could survive long if its lax morals allowed cheek to cheek dancing and unchaperoned night automobile riding. He said the parents of the United States were allowing thousands of girls to go to ruin and nearly 75,000 girls disappear every year and are never heard of as they go from city to city to live in hotels under management of the porters and bell boys. The death rate of these girls is very high and growing larger.

FOREIGN VISITORS AT COLLEGE ON MISSIONS WARD MOORING HOST FOR BARBECUE DINNER

(By Associated Press)
College Station, Texas, June 28.—P. C. Patil assistant director of agriculture of the Bombay Presidency, India is at College Station inspecting the cotton breeding work being done by Dr. G. F. Freeman, chief of the Division of Cotton Breeding. He is also studying the general agronomic problems worked out here. Speaking of his Indian visitor, Director B. Youngblood said: "Mr. Patil has just completed a year's course at the University of Wisconsin as a graduate student and has a very keen interest in American agriculture. His inclusion of the Texas Station in his itinerary, comprising a small list of what he and his advisors consider the leading stations in this country is in line with what is being done by a large number of foreign scientists who are coming to America for the purpose of getting in personal touch with the most advanced work in the world in scientific agriculture."

"Among these are: K. I. Thadani of India who earned his master's degree at A. & M. College of Texas last year and whose thesis dealt with the most advanced phases of the cotton breeding work being done by the Texas Station; Professor George Baillieu of Bozox, Belgium who came to the Texas Station recently to spend a day or two with brief mission and has remained for two months familiarizing himself with the details of a number of Dr. Freeman's advanced breeding projects; and Professor Willy Mees of Brussels, Belgium who came on a brief mission and has remained for more thorough study. There might be mentioned other striking instances of the value of the Texas Station."

Governor James M. Cox of Ohio is said to be the best wheat farmer in Ohio and does not subscribe to the false theory that two blades of grass should grow where three blades grew before while the world is short on everything. Jimmie Cox may never be president of the United States but he will never starve or go naked. He is a producer.

The Temple Telegram says: "Oats are selling at 34 cents per bushel" and the Cheerful Idiot arose and asked: "Why did I have to pay 35 cents for a mere handful of oatmeal at the restaurant this morning?" You didn't have to pay 35 cents for oatmeal. Cheerful, you could have done without and been happy." Tomatoes are rotting in the fields at San Benito. If one happens to get through the lines and arrives in Houston it costs 5 cents at the market. If one is served in a restaurant five minutes later it would have cost 35 cents. Of course tomatoes worth about 1-2 cent to the raiser will rot in the field at these prices.

In the Houston Chronicle of Saturday Colonel J. N. Pettis writes a good article under black headlines entitled: "Harris County Is Interested in Better Horses." Recently we made an overland trip in the Houston territory and noticed the carcasses of several fine horses left by the roadside by degenerate speeders. It recalled to mind the bill introduced by Hon. A. Frank Brignace of Grimes county in the 25th legislature making a heavy penalty for killing horses and leaving them by the roadside. That bill was introduced in 1897 or twenty-five years ago and a like bill came up before the 37th legislature and was introduced by Senator Jno. H. Bailey, who was also a member of the 25th legislature. As long as the Houston autoists are allowed to run down and kill all the fine horses in Harris county we cannot believe that Col. Pettis is right in calling for more fine horses. Persons going nowhere and having been nowhere at a high rate of speed have little respect for the horse or human beings and nobody is safe from danger while they are out on the highway and immune from the reach of the law.

KEEPING SCHOOL GOING ALL THE YEAR ROUND.

(Dallas Times-Herald).
A BUSINESS organization that left its plant idle for three or four months of the year would be a laughingstock to business men, yet there is in Dallas a sort of plant of the people which does precisely this thing. During the summer months it earns no interest on the money invested in it.

The idea of President Greiner of the School Board is that this plant shall function the year round. It is not an untried idea. It has been put into successful effect in a number of places. There is no reason why it should not be successful in Dallas.

Of course it is not planned that pupils shall spend all the twelve months in school. This would be both physiologically and psychologically unwise.

Vacations for various pupils would come at various times, so that every pupil would have his nine months of schooling and no more.

This 100 per cent use of equipment for which the people pay would result in substantial advantage.

In the first place use of equipment would tend to conserve it more than allowing it to lie idle does.

In the second place the year round idea would almost certainly open the doors of the grade and high schools to more pupils than enter them now and plans for making up those studies in which the pupil has been deficient could be worked out more easily.

Public schools cost money. It is money put up by the taxpayer. Their use throughout the entire twelve months instead of merely for a part of the year appeals to one's idea of business efficiency.

Of course the plan is not without its difficulties. The chief obstacle would be the matter of salaries for teachers, since it is not to be supposed that a teacher will work twelve months for the same salary he receives for working nine months. If this problem of salaries can be solved, there is no question of the excellence of the idea.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HOPPESS.

(Rockdale Reporter.)
Mrs. W. F. Hoppe, of Hillsboro, a sister of Dr. H. T. Coulter of this city, was struck by an automobile in Bryan on Tuesday of last week, and died at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Coulter, in that city Sunday morning. Mrs. Hoppe was the victim of a lady driver who lost control of her car which ran across a ditch, over the sidewalk and struck Mrs. Hoppe, who was in the front yard of a neighbor at the time. It was known from the first that the injuries were serious, there being almost a dozen fractures, including both arms, limbs, hip and several ribs. The funeral was held in Bryan Monday afternoon. Decedent's former pastor at Hillsboro, now Presiding Elder of the Dallas district, conducted the services, which were unusually impressive, and which were attended by a large concourse of people with a wealth of floral offerings. Dr. and Mrs. Coulter and daughter, Miss Helen, were, of course, present, and several representatives of the Rockdale Chamber of Commerce also attended the funeral in sympathy with and out of courtesy to their president. These representatives were Messrs. Lon Hudson, C. W. Sledge, John E. Cooke and Secretary Wyatt.

ROTARY CLUB MET WEDNESDAY

President M. E. Wallace presided over the meeting of the Rotary Club and gave a very interesting report of the Convention of International Association of Rotary Clubs held in Los Angeles, June 5th to 10th. The regular Wednesday luncheon was held at the Green Parrot Tea Room. Three new members were introduced and given instructions by Rotarian C. E. Friley of the Educational Committee. The new members introduced were James W. James, of James Drug Store; Supt. Madison Hall, of the Bryan Public Schools; and David Reid of Reid's Grocery Store.

Mr. J. E. Boog-Scott of the State Live Stock Sanitary Commission with headquarters at Fort Worth was a visitor as the guest of Dr. B. Youngblood. Mr. W. L. Forman, former City Manager of Denton was a visitor as the guest of Rotarian C. E. Friley.

Upon invitation of Secy. L. G. Jones of the College Y. M. C. A. it was decided to hold the meeting next Wednesday in the "Y" Building at the College. It was also the desire of the Club to invite the delegates to Hood's Brigade Convention who will be in session on that day, to go to this luncheon as guests of the Rotary club. Cars will be provided for that purpose.

Upon recommendation of W. S. Barron, Chairman of the Boys Work Committee, it was decided to give the boys of Bryan a camping and fishing trip sometime in the near future.

Those present at the meeting were:

C. E. Friley, M. E. Wallace, D. L. Wilson, Dr. B. U. Sims, Sam Parker, H. H. Williamson, Jno. M. Lawrence, Wilson Bradley, Iko Ashburn, B. Youngblood, J. T. S. Park, Law Henderson, E. J. Fountain, L. G. Jones, R. O. Allen, E. E. McAdams, C. L. Beason, J. P. Oats, W. S. Barron, S. M. Bird, M. L. Parker, C. S. Beckwith, Dr. John W. Black, Oak McKenzie, W. H. Cole, Jim James, J. H. Farris, Madison Hall, David Reid, Dr. E. P. Humbert, Tyler Haswell, T. K. Lawrence.

FLOOD MEETING WAS POSTPONED

(Special to Dallas News.)
Cameron, Texas, June 24.—Milam County's flood control conference scheduled for today, will be held on the night of July 7. Postponement was ordered at the last moment by W. W. Chambers, vice president of the Cameron Commercial Club, because of the absence from town of both Robert McLane, president, and W. B. Skelton, secretary of the Commercial Club, which is sponsoring the meeting.

Notices of the postponement were sent out last night by long distance telephone and by telegraph to Federal, State and county officials and representatives who were expected to attend. These included Arthur A. Stiles of Austin, State Reclamation Engineer; A. S. Dunlap, and C. S. Clark of the State Board of Water Engineers; Dr. B. Brunnemeyer, United States Weather Bureau meteorologist at Houston; Luther A. Johnson, unopposed Democratic candidate for Congress from this district; C. C. Ellsworth of the United States Geological Survey, Lee J. Rountree of Bryan, A. D. Jackson of A. and M. College, secretary of the recently organized Brazos River reclamation Association and representatives of the Chambers of Commerce of Rockdale, Thorndale and Milano in this county. All these and others are expected to attend the July 7 conference.

Purpose of Conference.

The intent of the conference is to inform the people of Milam County of the plans now being formulated along the Brazos, Colorado and other rivers to control floods and prevent overflows. Milam County was not represented at Bryan when the Brazos River Reclamation Association was formed but it has a vital interest in that movement, according to Hon. T. S. Henderson of Cameron, one of the prime movers for flood control here. Meeting here is designed to extend the area organized for flood control work up the river to take Milam County into the reclamation association.

Mrs. Jane Zuber. Miss Margaret Zuber and Miss Annie Mc Dougal leave tomorrow for Little Rock, Ark. to spend the summer. They will go through the country in their automobile. Mr. Niell Zuber of Little Rock, son of Mrs. Zuber, came in this morning and will drive the car through for them. They expect to visit Colorado before returning to Bryan.

Monthly Report of Co. Agent C. L. Beason for Brazos County

The Extension Service and the United States Department of Agriculture cooperating have requested that County and Home Demonstration agents discontinue weekly field reports, but to make, instead monthly statistical and narrative reports. From the comments being made both the Washington office and that of the Extension Service are much pleased with results thus far obtained from the new reporting system. County Agent C. L. Beason's statistical report for May shows 792 miles traveled, 2 days in office, 25 days in field, 15 meetings held with total attendance of 751, 11 visits from district agent and specialists, 68 calls at office and 129 letters written. The narrative reports show that the major part of the activities for the month has been in the interest of boys' and girls' club work, pecan budding, and community organization, etc. The cost of the county for maintaining this work, as given in report, has been five-sixths of one cent, a little less than one penny, on each thousand dollars worth of taxable property. In other words, if one pays taxes on six thousand dollars worth of property, the cost would be five cents for the service above enumerated. The Extension Service has the following to say about the narrative report: "Mr. Beason has made a splendid report. I think his community and club work is worthy of note, especially his success with the Millican people. Mr. Beason's work is very commendable throughout the county."

Pecan Budding
There were about 50 places scheduled for demonstrations during the budding season, but the excessive rains flooding the low lands have interfered with the prosecution of the work in a number of instances. How club members have been shown how been conducted to date with the result that quite a number of farmers and club members have been shown how to do the work, and an increased interest in this particular phase of demonstration work is plainly discernible throughout the county, especially in those sections where the pecan industry may be made to become a leading factor in the economic development of the county's resources, agricultural resources. At a recent demonstration, where club members, farmers, and the teacher in vocational agriculture were present and taking part in the work, the teacher of vocational agriculture remarked, upon seeing the work of the day: "That work will be worth $200 to that farmer." The "farmer" happened to be the president of the County Farm Bureau Federation.

The demonstration was well located near a public highway, enabling the passers-by to view the progress of the work done, and to see the importance of producing choice paper shell pecans instead of the less profitable native pecan. Several hundred buds from dependable varieties were collected during the winter and placed in cold storage thus saving the farmers all cost in the several demonstrations. Recent inspections show the buds to be looking well and the indications are that the farmers will soon have sufficient buds of their own, and no doubt, will continue to build up this great industry so long neglected.

The eight organized clubs of the county have a combined enrollment of 203 members, distributed as follows: Corn, 29; cotton, 13; sweet potato, 3; peanuts, 15; grain sorghums, 1; miscellaneous, 21; pig, 31; dairy calf, 1; poultry, 89. Six of the clubs are having regular meetings once or twice a month and the interest in the meetings continue to be good, even during the busy season. The excessive rains have made widespread discouragements to all crop club members, and the same cause has affected poultry club members, but in most instances a determination has held fast, some club members planting their crops the second or third time following the floods, and one club member after having lost first planting of corn had hail to beat second planting badly into the ground but determined to do his best, he cut off tops and straightened it up as best he could hopping to at least succeed.

Teams from the several clubs will enter the contests in poultry and livestock judging at College during the Short Course. Several members already having made splendid records in livestock judging.

The first Brazos county-wide club meeting will be held at the home of the County Agent on June 24, at which time a regular program will be rendered and an especial appeal made to club members to attend the Short Course, as well as take advantage of every opportunity being offered club members. Members of the local Rotary Club are becoming interested in the club work and are assisting in the work by attending the meetings and assisting in putting on "pep meetings, etc."

Notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions we are going to have a great year in club work. Conditions are already improving and will evidently make possible some good records. The ambitious among club members to make preparations for life's work is being kindled as never before, many of them leaving for college, or planning to take special training for whatever they have in mind to do. From time to time club members ask counsel and advice of the county agent as to best plans in making preparations for life's work. Club work is coming into its own.

Dead for a quarter of a century. Millican, once the terminus of the H. and T. C. railroad and the business home of Sanger Brothers and other prominent business men of Texas, furnishes an interesting example of community organization and community awakening. Some five years ago when this community was scheduled for one of the community centers of the county, no one agreed with the county agent that an organization at that place would ever function and even leaders discarded the idea of spending any time on a community which had been dead so long. But "hope eternal" should ever spring in a county agent's breast, and believing "the sick needs the physician" never abandoned, and some months ago at a public gathering at the school house the time seemed opportune to

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Easters of the Millican community were shopping with the local merchants today.

Dean Kyle Has a Wonderful Peach and Pecan Orchard

Dean E. J. Kyle, dean of the Agricultural Department of the A. and M. College, is marketing the peach crop which is now ripening on the trees. In this wonderful orchard of four acres there are 125 trees to the acre making 500 trees. They are planted 20 feet apart and stand in perfect squares, each tree being the same distance from the other. The leading varieties now ripening are the Mamie Ross, Leona and Frank, (named in honor of Col. Frank Holland, editor of Holland's Magazine and Texas Farm and Ranch). These trees will produce about 1200 bushels and are the best adapted trees to this land. There is one section devoted to Elberta peaches, but they will not ripen until July and this section is not in the Elberta peach tree section of Texas. This is one department at A. and M. College that is self sustaining and a trip to visit this remarkable and wonderful orchard is worth while. The trees are six years old and are producing two to three bushels per tree. Just now the crop is ripening and presents a great spectacle. Dean Kyle is personally superintending the marketing of the crop and takes great delight in the work.

Just across the highway is the great pecan orchard planted by Dean Kyle. The trees are twelve years old and some are bearing a good crop, although the 1922 crop in Texas will be short. Dean Kyle says West Texas reports state, The main varieties of pecans in the College orchard are the Stewart Delmos, San Saba, Prolific, Texas and Money Makers. There are four acres in one pecan orchard and ten acres in another and the trees are 40 feet apart. The greatest pecan of the native variety is grown in San Saba county and Dean Kyle has this wonderful nut included in this orchard. There are from 50,000,000 to 75,000,000 native pecan trees in Texas which is the greatest pecan orchard in the world. Dean Kyle is regarded as one of the best posted men in the world on pecan culture and his great orchard at College is evidence of his thorough knowledge of this nut which is destined under cultural methods to become a world wide product peculiarly adapted to Texas soil.

COUNTY WIDE BOYS AND GIRLS MEETING MR. AND MRS. BEASONS

County Agent and Mrs. C. L. Beason entertained the Brazos County Club Boys and Girls in a county-wide meeting on the lawn at their home on Saturday night which proved to be one of the most enjoyable events in the history of club work in the county. Mr. Beason has been an indefatigable worker for the future welfare of the young people and has already achieved a wonderful success. After the program was concluded Mr. and Mrs. Beason served refreshments of delicious ice cream and cake. The program was opened with the singing of "America" the audience standing.

In the song contest Edge won the first prize, 3 pounds of candy; Millican club taking second prize, 2 lbs. of candy. G. W. Orms, Johnnie Stockton and Lee J. Rountree were the judges. In the yell contest Taber Welfare Club being the most active and having attracted more or less attention throughout the country on account of its community fair, strides of progress, the home of the champion State champion Boys' and Girls' club, 1921.

Our terracing campaign has closed not with the number of demonstrations held as had been planned, but with demonstrations conducted on about 17 farms some fields being completely terraced, while others had the work laid out and started as it should be done. The heavy rains have given the terraces a severe test, in many instances the newly-made terraces showing some breaks; some demonstrations have stood the drastic test without a break. But in every instance, the importance of the work had been demonstrated beyond a doubt, the thousand or more acres terraced showing marked improvement, causing the owners and all who see the work to become enthusiasts on the subject of terracing.

Already farmers are asking that they be listed for demonstrations in terracing at the earliest possible date in the fall. Since the demand for this character of work is going to be heavy, the county agent is planning to conduct in the leading communities of the county night schools at which the essential principles of terracing will be taught, two or more men chosen to take special training for terracing work in their communities, and then one farm, or field, selected by the community for a complete demonstration in terracing where the farmers of the neighborhood and the older club boys may take part in the work to the end that the work of terracing may be successfully carried on without the presence of the county agent. It is hoped that the cooperation of the county superintendent of schools will be enlisted in this undertaking and that several of the schools will be enlisted in this undertaking and that several of the schools will obtain farm levels and terracing equipment sufficient to make the work of terracing most effective in each community. Many farms have already been saved this year the cost of doing the work, and the "mysteries" of the farm level will be studied as never before in the quest of a more productive soil and a better agriculture.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE PROHIBITION VIOLATION

Officers Franklin and Williams on Tuesday night arrested a young man named Carpenter on a charge of violating the Dean and Volstead laws and secured several jars and bottles some of them containing what Officer Franklin termed as "fry mule". In a hearing before Justice J. W. Hamilton the defendant was allowed bail in the sum of $300 and was released to appear before the next term of the Brazos county grand jury.

Miss Malcolm McInnis and Miss Corral Clarke departed today to spend the vacation months in Colorado and other points of interest in the west. They will return to Bryan in time for the opening of school in September.

boys, the prize being a pocket knife. The judges were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cobb and C. E. Martin.

The following communities were represented: Smetana, Parker, Edge, Taber, Kurten, Reliance, Steep Hollow, Harvey, Rock Prairie, Wellborn and Millican. So interested were some of the Smetana club members to attend the meeting that they caught an afternoon train, thinking they might find a car to take them back home. All cars from every direction seemed loaded, but the county agent's car is ever at the disposal of boys and girls, who are lending a helping hand to a better agricultural and a happier life.

Special mention should be made of the singing led by Prof. Gabe Gazell and joined in so enthusiastically by all the people (and many of the older ones including J. L. Cobb, J. H. Kraft, G. W. Orms, A. W. Buchanan, S. E. Eberstadt, J. A. Heister and all the ladies). The Eagle congratulated Mr. Beason on his great success and work for the coming citizens of tomorrow—the boys and girls of today. He should have the loyal support of every father and mother in Brazos county.

Governor James M. Cox of Ohio is said to be the best wheat farmer in Ohio and does not subscribe to the false theory that two blades of grass should grow where three blades grew before while the world is short on everything. Jimmie Cox may never be president of the United States but he will never starve or go naked. He is a producer.

The Temple Telegram says: "Oats are selling at 34 cents per bushel" and the Cheerful Idiot arose and asked: "Why did I have to pay 35 cents for a mere handful of oatmeal at the restaurant this morning?" You didn't have to pay 35 cents for oatmeal. Cheerful, you could have done without and been happy." Tomatoes are rotting in the fields at San Benito. If one happens to get through the lines and arrives in Houston it costs 5 cents at the market. If one is served in a restaurant five minutes later it would have cost 35 cents. Of course tomatoes worth about 1-2 cent to the raiser will rot in the field at these prices.

In the Houston Chronicle of Saturday Colonel J. N. Petties writes a good article under black headlines entitled: "Harris County Is Interested in Better Horses." Recently we made an overland trip in the Houston territory and noticed the carcasses of several fine horses left by the roadside by degenerate speeders. It recalled to mind the bill introduced by Hon. A. Frank Brigrance of Grimes county in the 25th legislature making a heavy penalty for killing horses and leaving them by the roadside. That bill was introduced in 1897 or twenty-five years ago and a like bill came up before the 37th legislature and was introduced by Senator Jno. H. Bailey, who was also a member of the 25th legislature. As long as the Houston autoists are allowed to run down and kill all the fine horses in Harris county we cannot believe that Col. Petties is right in calling for more fine horses. Persons going nowhere and having been nowhere at a high rate of speed have little respect for the horse or human beings and nobody is safe from danger while they are out on the highway and immune from the reach of the law.

KEEPING SCHOOL GOING ALL THE YEAR ROUND.

(Dallas Times-Herald).
A BUSINESS organization that left its plant idle for three or four months of the year would be a laughingstock to business men, yet there is in Dallas a sort of plant of the people which does precisely this thing. During the summer months it earns no interest on the money invested in it.

The idea of President Greiner of the School Board is that this plant shall function the year round. It is not an untried idea. It has been put into successful effect in a number of places. There is no reason why it should not be successful in Dallas.

Of course it is not planned that pupils shall spend all the twelve months in school. This would be both physiologically and psychologically unwise.

Vacations for various pupils would come at various times, so that every pupil would have his nine months of schooling and no more.

This 100 per cent use of equipment for which the people pay would result in substantial advantage.

In the first place use of equipment would tend to conserve it more than allowing it to lie idle does.

In the second place the year round idea would almost certainly open the doors of the grade and high schools to more pupils than enter them now and plans for making up those studies in which the pupil has been deficient could be worked out more easily.

Public schools cost money. It is money put up by the taxpayer. Their use throughout the entire twelve months instead of merely for a part of the year appeals to one's idea of business efficiency.

Of course the plan is not without its difficulties. The chief obstacle would be the matter of salaries for teachers, since it is not to be supposed that a teacher will work twelve months for the same salary he receives for working nine months. If this problem of salaries can be solved, there is no question of the excellence of the idea.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HOPPES.

(Rockdale Reporter.)

Mrs. W. F. Hoppes, of Hillsboro, a sister of Dr. H. T. Coulter of this city, was struck by an automobile in Bryan on Tuesday of last week, and died at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Coulter, in that city Sunday morning. Mrs. Hoppes was the victim of a lady driver who lost control of her car which ran across a ditch, over the sidewalk and struck Mrs. Hoppes, who was in the front yard of a neighbor at the time. It was known from the first that the injuries were serious, there being almost a dozen fractures, including both arms, limbs, hip and several ribs. The funeral was held in Bryan Monday afternoon. Deceased's former pastor at Hillsboro, now Presiding Elder of the Dallas district, conducted the services, which were unusually impressive, and which were attended by a large concourse of people with a wealth of floral offerings. Dr. and Mrs. Coulter and daughter, Miss Helen, were, of course, present, and several representatives of the Rockdale Chamber of Commerce also attended the funeral in sympathy with and out of courtesy to their president. These representatives were Messrs. Lon Hudson, C. W. Sledge, John E. Cooke and Secretary Wyatt.

ROTARY CLUB MET WEDNESDAY

President M. E. Wallace presided over the meeting of the Rotary Club and gave a very interesting report of the Convention of International Association of Rotary Clubs held in Los Angeles, June 5th to 10th. The regular Wednesday luncheon was held at the Green Parrot Tea Room. Three new members were introduced and given instructions by Rotarian C. E. Friley of the Educational Committee. The new members introduced were James W. James, of James Drug Store; Supt. Madison Hall, of the Bryan Public Schools; and David Reid of Reid's Grocery Store.

Upon invitation of Secy. L. G. Jones of the College Y. M. C. A. it was decided to hold the meeting next Wednesday in the "Y" Building at the College. It was also the desire of the Club to invite the delegates to Hood's Brigade Convention who will be in session on that day, to go to this luncheon as guests of the Rotary Club. Cars will be provided for that purpose.

Upon recommendation of W. S. Barron, Chairman of the Boys Work Committee, it was decided to give the boys of Bryan a camping and fishing trip sometime in the near future.

FLOOD MEETING WAS POSTPONED

(Special to Dallas News.)

Cameron, Texas, June 24.—Milam County's flood control conference scheduled for today, will be held on the night of July 7. Postponement was ordered at the last moment by W. W. Chambers, vice president of the Cameron Commercial Club, because of the absence from town of both Robert McLane, president, and W. B. Skelton, secretary of the Commercial Club, which is sponsoring the meeting.

Notices of the postponement were sent out last night by long distance telephone and by telegraph to Federal, State and county officials and representatives who were expected to attend. These included Arthur A. Stiles of Austin, State Reclamation Engineer; A. S. Dunlap, and C. S. Clark of the State Board of Water Engineers; Dr. B. Brunnemeyer, United States Weather Bureau meteorologist at Houston; Luther A. Johnson, unopposed Democratic candidate for Congress from this district; C. C. Ellsworth of the United States Geological Survey, Lee J. Roundtree of Bryan, A. D. Jackson of A. and M. College, secretary of the recently organized Brazos River reclamation Association and representatives of the Chambers of Commerce of Rockdale, Thorndale and Milano in this county. All these and others are expected to attend the July 7 conference.

Purpose of Conference.

The intent of the conference is to inform the people of Milam County of the plans now being formulated along the Brazos, Colorado and other rivers to control floods and prevent overflows. Milam County was not represented at Bryan when the Brazos River Reclamation Association was formed but it has a vital interest in that movement, according to Hon. T. S. Henderson of Cameron, one of the prime movers for flood control here. Meeting here is designed to extend the area organized for flood control work up the river to take Milam County into the reclamation association.

OFF FOR SUMMER

Mrs. Jane Zuber, Miss Margaret Zuber and Miss Annie Mc Dougal leave tomorrow for Little Rock, Ark. to spend the summer. They will go through the country in their automobile. Mr. Niell Zuber of Little Rock, son of Mrs. Zuber, came in this morning and will drive the car through for them. They expect to visit Colorado before returning to Bryan.

Monthly Report of Co. Agent C. L. Beason for Brazos County

The Extension Service and the United States Department of Agriculture cooperating have requested that County and Home Demonstration agents discontinue weekly field reports, but to make, instead monthly statistical and narrative reports. From the comments being made both the Washington office and that of the Extension Service are much pleased with results thus far obtained from the new reporting system. County Agent C. L. Beason's statistical report for May shows 792 miles traveled, 2 days in office, 25 days in field, 15 meetings held with total attendance of 751, 11 visits from district agent and specialists, 68 calls at office and 129 letters written. The narrative reports show that the major part of the activities for the month has been in the interest of boys' and girls' club work, pecan budding, and community organization, etc. The cost of the county for maintaining this work, as given in report, has been five-sixths of one cent, a little less than one penny, on each thousand dollars worth of taxable property. In other words, if one pays taxes on six thousand dollars worth of property, the cost would be five cents for the service above enumerated. The Extension Service has the following to say about the narrative report: "Mr. Beason has made a splendid report. I think his community and club work is worthy of note, especially his success with the Millican people. Mr. Beason's work is very commendable throughout the county."

Pecan Budding

There were about 50 places scheduled for demonstrations during the budding season, but the excessive rains flooding the low lands have interfered with the prosecution of the work in a number of instances. How club members have been shown how been conducted to date with the result that quite a number of farmers and club members have been shown how to do the work, and an increased interest in this particular phase of demonstration work is plainly discernible throughout the county, especially in those sections where the pecan industry may be made to become a leading factor in the economic development of the county's resources. At a recent demonstration, where club members, farmers, and the teacher in vocational agriculture were present and taking part in the work, the teacher of vocational agriculture remarked, upon seeing the work of the day: "That work will be worth $200 to that farmer." The "farmer" happened to be the president of the County Farm Bureau Federation.

The demonstration was well located near a public highway, enabling the passers-by to view the progress of the work done, and to see the importance of producing choice paper shell pecans instead of the less profitable native pecan. Several hundred buds from dependable varieties were collected during the winter and placed in cold storage thus saving the farmers all cost in the several demonstrations. Recent inspections show the buds to be looking well and the indications are that the farmers will soon have sufficient buds of their own, and, no doubt, will continue to build up this great industry so long neglected.

The eight organized clubs of the county have a combined enrollment of 203 members, distributed as follows: Corn, 29; cotton, 13; sweet potato, 3; peanuts, 15; grain sorghums, 1; miscellaneous, 21; pig, 31; dairy calf, 1; poultry, 89. Six of the clubs are having regular meetings once or twice a month and the interest in the meetings continue to be good, even during the busy season. The excessive rains have made widespread discouragements to all crop club members, and the same cause has affected poultry club members, but in most instances a determination has held fast, some club members planting their crops the second and third time following the floods, and one club member after having lost first planting of corn had had to beat second planting badly into the ground but determined to do his best, he cut off tops and straightened it up as best he could hopping to at least succeed.

Teams from the several clubs will enter the contests in poultry and livestock judging at College during the Short Course. Several members already having made splendid records in livestock judging.

The first Brazos county-wide club meeting will be held at the home of the County Agent on June 24, at which time a regular program will be rendered and an special appeal made to club members to attend the Short Course, as well as take advantage of every opportunity being offered club members. Members of the local Rotary Club are becoming interested in the club work and are assisting in the work by attending the meetings and assisting in putting on "pep meetings, etc."

Notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions we are going to have a great year in club work. Conditions are already improving and will evidently make possible some good records. The ambitious among club members to make preparations for life's work is being kindled as never before, many of them leaving for college, or planning to take special training for whatever they have in mind to do. From time to time club members ask counsel and advice of the county agent as to best plans in making preparations for life's work. Club work is coming into its own.

Dead for a quarter of a century, Millican, once the terminus of the H. and T. C. railroad and the business home of Sanger Brothers and other prominent business men of Texas, furnishes an interesting example of community organization and community awakening. Some five years ago when this community was scheduled for one of the community centers of the county, no one agreed with the county agent that an organization at that place would ever function and even leaders discouraged the idea of spending any time on a community which had been dead so long, but "hope eternal" should ever spring in a county agent's breast, and believing "the sick needs the physician" hope for Millican community was never abandoned, and some months ago at a public gathering at the school house the time seemed opportune to present the idea of a community organization as one of the essentials to community development and prosperity. The idea was well received and resulted in steps being taken toward perfecting an organization. Three regular monthly meetings have been held with an average attendance of at least 200 people. The county agent and the secretary of the chamber of Commerce have taken special pains to see that these first meetings had some interesting feature appearing on each program, either music, address, lecture, etc.

Heretofore other business organizations have refrained from taking part in rural community meetings offering as an excuse that farmers would resent such steps, but believing in the inter-dependence of town and country, the county agent has ever held to the idea of the closest cooperation one with the other. Being named chairman of the Extension Committee of the Rotary Club, the county agent invited Rotarians to take part in community meetings whenever opportunity was given. The Millican community meeting furnished the first opportunity and a band of live Rotarians promptly appeared at the meeting, delighting the great audience with song and story, "pep meeting" greetings from business men to customers. The effect was like magic. Never before had an audience in that old community been held so spell-bound. Good cheer was written upon every face. Farmers, tired from day's toil and disconsolate over flood conditions, laughed for joy and gave hearty handshakes their business neighbors who had given them such fine entertainment. The meeting being over, the visiting Rotarians were escorted from the school building to the Woodman hall where refreshments were served to the delight of all and another hour spent in jollification. These business men now have a new vision, and as the president of the Rotary club expressed it, "The next time a meeting is announced there will be no trouble in getting Rotarians to attend" and other communities having heard of the great meeting held at Millican are anxious for the Rotarians to pay them a visit.

Millican community is now planning for a community fair. The several committees already having been appointed and the plans well under way. One of their slogans is, "Let's put Tabur club in the shade." Tabur Welfare Club being the most active and having attracted more or less attention throughout the county on account of its community fair, strides of progress, the home of the champion State champion Boys' and Girls' club, 1921.

Our terracing campaign has closed not with the number of demonstrations held as had been planned, but with demonstrations conducted on about 17 farms some fields being completely terraced, while others had the work laid out and started as it should be done. ## Dean Kyle Has a Wonderful Peach and Pecan Orchard

Dean E. J. Kyle, dean of the Agricultural Department of the A. and M. College, is marketing the peach crop which is now ripening on the trees. In this wonderful orchard of four acres there are 125 trees to the acre making 500 trees. They are planted 20 feet apart and stand in perfect squares, each tree being the same distance from the other. The leading varieties now ripening are the Mamie Ross, Leona and Frank, (named in honor of Col. Frank Holland, editor of Holland's Magazine and Texas Farm and Ranch). These trees will produce about 1200 bushels and are the best adapted trees to this land. There is one section devoted to Elberta peaches, but they will not ripen until July and this section is not in the Elberta peach tree section of Texas. This is one department at A. and M. College that is self sustaining and a trip to visit this remarkable and wonderful orchard is worth while. The trees are six years old and are producing two to three bushels per tree. Just now the crop is ripening and presents a great spectacle. Dean Kyle is personally superintending the marketing of the crop and takes great delight in the work.

Just across the highway is the great pecan orchard planted by Dean Kyle. The trees are twelve years old and some are bearing a good crop, although the 1922 crop in Texas will be short. Dean Kyle says West Texas reports state. The main varieties of pecans in the College orchard are the Stewart Delmos, San Saba, Prolific, Texas and Money Makers. There are four acres in one pecan orchard and ten acres in another and the trees are 40 feet apart. The greatest pecan of the native variety is grown in San Saba county and Dean Kyle has this wonderful nut included in this orchard. There are from 50,000,000 to 75,000,000 native pecan trees in Texas which is the greatest pecan orchard in the world. Dean Kyle is regarded as one of the best posted men in the world on pecan culture and his great orchard at College is evidence of his thorough knowledge of this nut which is destined under cultural methods to become a world wide product peculiarly adapted to Texas soil.

COUNTY WIDE BOYS AND GIRLS MEETING MR. AND MRS. BEASONS

County Agent and Mrs. C. L. Beason entertained the Brazos County Club Boys and Girls in a county-wide meeting on the lawn at their home on Saturday night which proved to be one of the most enjoyable events in the history of club work in the county. Mr. Beason has been an indefatigable worker for the future welfare of the young people and has already achieved a wonderful success. After the program was concluded Mr. and Mrs. Beason served refreshments of delicious ice cream and cake. The program was opened with the singing of "America" the audience standing.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE PROHI LAW VIOLATION

Officers Franklin and Williams on Tuesday night arrested a young man named Carpenter on a charge of violating the Dean and Volstead laws and secured several jars and bottles some of them containing what Officer Franklin termed as "irey mule". In a hearing before Justice J. W. Hamilton the defendant was allowed bail in the sum of $300 and was released to appear before the next term of the Brazos county grand jury.

Miss Malcolm Mc-Intosh and Miss Corral Clarke departed today to spend the vacation months in Colorado and other points of interest in the west. They will return to Bryan in time for the opening of school in September.

The judges were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cobb and C. E. Martin.

The following communities were represented: Smetana, Parker, Edge, Tabur, Kurten, Reliance, Steep Hollow, Harvey, Rock Prairie, Wellborn and Millican. So interested were some of the Smetana club members to attend the meeting that they caught an afternoon train, thinking they might find a car to take them back home. All cars from every direction seemed loaded, but the county agent's car is ever at the disposal of boys and girls, who are lending a helping hand to a better agricultural and a happier life.

Special mention should be made of the singing led by Prof. Gabe Gazell and joined in so enthusiastically by all the people (and many of the older ones including J. L. Cobb, J. H. Kraft, G. W. Orms, A. W. Buchanan, S. E. Eberstadt, J. A. Heisler and all the ladies). The Eagle congratulated Mr. Beason on his great success and work for the coming citizens of tomorrow—the boys and girls of today. He should have the loyal support of every father and mother in Brazos county.

I always admire courage and determination, and I could not help being favorably impressed with your chapter, and the effort it has made in the face of big obstacles, to 'serve'—to assist the ex-service man in his disability, and help to give the unfortunates in your community a chance to know what better living is. I feel sure that Brazos county appreciates the splendid efforts and aims of your Red Cross chapter." Miss Sullivan's visit to the local chapter was to secure accurate and correct figures from the chapter records, showing the amount of Home Service work done during the year, January 1921 to January 1922, inclusive. ## WILDCATting IN GRIMES COUNTY (Houston Chronicle.) Grimes County wildcatting is going merrily on. King & Olson, drilling on the Nettie Stephens farm, one mile east of Iola, are down around 2300 feet with rotary. Bit penetrated 11 feet of sand with gas show at 1361-1372 feet, they report, and again encountered a show of gas at 1900-foot level and a show of both gas and oil at 2169 feet. Company has 3000 acres under lease. It is not a stock company, capital being furnished by King & Olson and local bankers. Olson drilled seven wells at Burkburnett. His drilling contractor Bob Lawrence, is taking acreage in lieu of pay, and Harry Hampton, day driller, is taking acreage rather than a salary.

A number of wildcats are drilling in Grimes County. There are two tests near Singleton. The Scott & Thompson test, 11 miles southeast of Bryan, is down 2300 feet on the Williams farm. The Pure Oil Company has made location and let drilling contract for a test northeast of Bryan.

THE RED CROSS EXECUTIVE BOARD HELD MEETING

Promptly at 4 p. m. on Tuesday, the Red Cross executive board met in regular monthly session with the following members present: W. H. Cole, chairman; Mrs. Tyler Haswell, vice-chairman; John A. Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Albert Buchanan, secretary; Rev. S. M. Bird, Mrs. M. Francis, county superintendent Eck Smith, Mrs. J. T. Hanway, Mrs. W. B. Bizzell, and Mrs. B. Youngblood. The secretary read a very interesting letter received from Miss Florence Sullivan of Saint Louis, a representative from the Southwestern Division American Red Cross, who made an official visit to the Brazos County Chapter during the past month. Among other things, Miss Sullivan said of the Brazos County Red Cross: "It has been my privilege because of the special type of work I am doing, to visit many of the finest chapters in the Southwestern Division, and I must tell you that the real Red Cross spirit has not shown itself more prominently in any of them than in the Brazos County chapter. I always admire courage and determination, and I could not help being favorably impressed with your chapter, and the effort it has made in the face of big obstacles, to 'serve'—to assist the ex-service man in his disability, and help to give the unfortunate in your community a chance to know what better living is. I feel sure that the proposition for having a county agricultural and livestock show this fall in Brazos county. Nothing would stimulate an interest in better agriculture in Brazos county than a county fair. I think we have talked about the proposition long enough. I am ready to start something. We are going to need some prizes and I am ready to do my part. Here is my proposition. To the boy or girl between the ages of ten and eighteen years of age who exhibits the best Duroc-Jersey sow pig dropped after March 1st, 1922, I will give a registered Duroc-Jersey sow pig. The pigs shown can be of either sex, but must be registered Duroc-Jerseys. A complete record of the cost of feeding and caring for the pig must be submitted, but the record will not count anything in awarding the prize. All pigs exhibited in this class must have been in the exhibitor's possession since July 1, 1922."

Total Home Service expenditures for the year $1,788.02.

Total Home Service refunds for the year $1,786.90.

Loans for 1921, $81,546.94.

Refunds 1921, $1,789.90.

These figures do not include the Civilian Relief work done by the chapter.

Army to be used as evidence in passing on applications for discharge from service in the army. Red Cross Shop cash receipts for month $62.95. ## HOODS BRIGADE REUNION IN BRYAN an in the years past. We have met you again and it goes without saying that we know that we will receive the same courtesy and kindness at this Reunion. In 1861 in the full vigor of a glorious young manhood these old men were fighting rather than writers in the evacuation of Richmond, April 2nd, 1865 a great many of the Military records were lost or destroyed but it is known of men that their record is as good as the best.

There is a letter in the Texas Archives from the Librarian of Congress to the Texas State Librarian asking for information touching Hood's Brigade, it says: "The known statistics of these Regiments is so remarkable that if the missing figures can be obtained it will establish a record equaled by few, if any, organizations in our Civil War or indeed in modern warfare." The missing figures have been found, are now in Washington. Almost 60 years have past since these old soldiers laid down their Enfields under the Apple Tree at Appomattox and the Flag, which for four years they had followed with such chivalrous devotion, went down in darkness and in blood, was furler never to float over the land as a Nation again.

They stood beneath the sinking stars of a doomed cause with a heroism and devotion that would have added new lustre to Rome's Legions in her palmist days.

Now I say to all of you: while justice has never yet been done you for your devotion to your principles and your people, the day will come when shall be told in song and story, how the glory of the Gray never paled before the Blue and the brilliant feats of one American soldier but reflected brighter lustre on the other; you will leave to our children's children an heritage of imperishable glory. Right here let me digress for a moment, in every Arm of the Confederate service there were many soldiers who were as brave individually as any member of Hood's Brigade, there were commands whose records for gallantry was as brilliant as theirs and would not pluck a single leaf from the laurel crown to which every true Confederate is entitled to give it to Hood's Brigade. Nor would they have me do so, there was glory enough for all.

Let us look at another phase of the behavior of our Hero. We are told that Aeneas, the progenitor of Rome after his escape from the fall of Troy was buffeted by wind and wave and driven by cruel fate o'er land and sea seeing his friends and kinsmen fall in death around him: the past Virgil tells us that in his anguish and despair, he cried out "O three and four times py are those who perished beneath the wall of Troy." When the Confederate soldier returned footsore and weary from Appomattox to his desolated home and desecrated Altars many of them to find lone chimneys, standing as sentinels and saw his country broken and helpless: industries prostrated, fortunes swept away, towns and villages destroyed, friends and kinsmen maimed and slain, mourning and desolation in every household in his land did he in his anguish and despair cry out: "O, thrice happy are they who fell on the death crowned heights of Gettysburg, or the gory fields of Manassas, twice drenched with the best blood of the South or Shiloh or Atlanta." No with that never-ending spirit of his glorious Androclidian spirit, he said: "I will take up the burden of life again as I find it and will not only restore my Country to the glory and prosperity it had under our fathers but will make it bloom and grow as it never did before."

"In the midst of disaster so unparalleled he had one compensator and only one, for never did royal conqueror returning in all the pomp and circumstance of glorious victory receive a welcome so royal, loving and tender as was given our defeated Hero by the women of the South: for in his door-way, whether of humble cottage or noble mansion that the fortunes of war had spared him like an angel of Hope stood the Southern woman, cheering him on to victories of Peace more glorious and renowned than those of war."

"How did he keep faith with his people? Look around you at your smiling fields, your hill-tops crowned with churches and school houses, your splendid college and universities he has endowed the great cities sea ports and railroads, he has built the magnificent mines and manufacturing, he has developed but far greater than all these look at the onward and upward progress of our people in the grand march of civilization all these tell you in thunder tones how that man with his heart of gold in his faded Jacket of gray kept the promise he made over 60 years ago. There is another figure we must not overlook, the grandest of them all, call your bouquets, select the fairest flowers from all the gardens we would weave today and lay them aside a tribute to her who baptised our cause with her tears and sanctified it with her prayers, those women who saw and participated in the horrors of our great war. In honor of her who as she buckled the sword or knapsack on her hero in gray and gave him one last fond kiss as with tear dimmed eyes and breaking heart she bade him God speed in doing his duty by our Southland, who not only guarded our homes and fire-sides, but fed and clothed us while we faced the invaders in the field. Who endured without murmur or complaint those long weary years of privation and danger, whose hearts were burdened by sufferings yet untold and in spite of murders fire and rapine, clung with determined devotion to our convictions and our country's cause."

"Now if you old heroes are veterans, what is she? Wherein did your service excel hers in point of time, heroism or patriotism? O woman of our Southland, God in his infinite wisdom has made many objects worthy of the admiration of the ages, but none more worthy than you. Fame has placed your names amidst her choicest treasures in the temple of immortality.

"Now let us see how the U. D. C. of today, our daughters and granddaughters acted under the acid test of war, she crossed 3000 miles of ocean, braving imminent dangers of the submarine and the deadly torpedo to get as near as possible to, and even up to the firing line, where she gave first aid to the wounded and even brushed away the death-frost from the lips of many of our heroes who made the Supreme Sacrifice. Out in the hospitals she was found at all times when needed, and all other duties she did with all of her might, and when the war was over we find her back home following in the footsteps of her heroic mothers, in 'keeping the record straight' they have the names of over 300,000 descendants of Confederate soldiers in the American army, the majority of them in France. With each year when spring time brings its sunshine and its flowers, she comes bringing her offerings of cyresses and pine to lay upon the graves of our dead, always reserving a poppy for the boy brother or lover who fell in Flanders Field. God bless them: I love them all with the last pulsation of my heart I shall love them."

CONVINCED IT HAS NO EQUAL STATES NURSE

Mrs. H. Koch Says All Efforts To Find Relief Failed Until She Took Tanlac—Gains 20 Pounds And Is Now In Fine Health.

"I have taken seven bottles of Tanlac and have actually gained twenty pounds," declared Mrs. H. Koch of 2907 Franklin St., St. Louis Mo., a widely known nurse.

"I suffered from rheumatism for five years, lost my appetite and would bloast after eating until I could hardly breathe. At times I would have to walk the floor nearly all night. I was troubled with constipation, headaches, bilious attacks and dizzy spells. I also had severe pains across my back and suffered a great deal from rheumatism in my shoulders."

"All my efforts to find relief failed until I took Tanlac but now I eat anything I want, sleep fine, have strength and energy to easily attend to my duties, and am in perfect health. For stomach trouble and a run-down condition I am convinced Tanlac has no equal."

BRAZOS COUNTY BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB DEPT.

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason.

In placing dairy cows at the Brazos county-wide club meeting held at the county agent's home on last Saturday evening five of the twelve boys in the contest scored 100, according to Paul Borsikie who conducted the lesson and contest in judging dairy cattle. These boys were: Henry Kosarek of Smetana, Julian Cobb Earl Buchanan, Charlie McWhorter and Howard Cooper of Tabor. County Agent Beason called attention to the fact that the cow given first place was a grade cow while the others were purebred or registered thus showing that registration within itself does not always mean that such animal is of the best type.

A candidate who recently spent the night with friends in the Brazos bottoms says the 3:30 bell, the going to work at day break, and staying on the job throughout the day with only a short stop for noon, account, in his judgement for the success of farming the Brazos bottoms. Some people will be quick to reply that they can do enough work during eight hours of the day, all of which may be true, but it is not, oftentimes, sufficient. "Enough" means to satisfy, "sufficient" means that which is necessary. Most of us would prefer to work on the shady side of the hill, but many times the grassy crop is beneath a scorching sun.

If the band of club members that met in the county-wide meet last Saturday will attend the Short Course, July 24-29, we will pull off a stunt in old Brazos that will set the pace many days to come. What do you say, club members?

At the monthly meeting of the Brazos county poultry association next Monday night which is to be held at the Chamber of Commerce, Barred Rocks will come in for discussion. Not only those interested in raising Barred Rocks should attend but also all club members who expect or contemplate entering the College during the Short Course. The lessons developed will be helpful to all.

Wellborn community is now on "progress" road. On next Thursday June 29, there will be conducted a canning demonstration, at which the people may learn how to put up beef and other meat products. While cattle are so cheap it occurs that it would be wise to store up much of this meat for future use. The Home Demonstration Agent of Grimes county recently reported at College that the farmers of Grimes had canned 176 beaves. That is good work and money saved.

On Saturday night following the canning demonstration on Thursday the Wellborn people will organize themselves into a community club, the County Agent and others having suggested that by so doing the unoccupied school building might be made to serve a useful purpose in the social religious and economic development of that splendid community. Tabor and Milliken, the news just as well be "broke" to you now as later are coming into the game of community building, that which is so closely related to the home—the foundation of our boasted civilization.

In speaking to "Uncle" Jimmie Mathis about his neighbor's fine corn, he (Mathis) replied: "Jim Tobias can make good corn on a house top." Some confidence. Brother Tobias, you have established in the mind of your good neighbor.

Begin planning now for your farm exhibit for community and county fairs. Touch up your livestock, select the choice of your field crops and be able to tell your neighbor the story of your success in whatever you have done or undertaken. The farmer deals in no patent processes; the world is welcome to the experience of his years. Thus is progress made while the world grows better. Selfishness retards progress and stifles the nobler sentiments of man.

Editor Lee J. Rountree in delivering the prizes to the winners of the song contest at the recent county-wide club meeting declared that the future of this country did not depend alone on registered cattle, fine horses, and purebred hogs, but on the education and proper training of the boys and girls and that he was delighted to see so many take an active interest in those things most conducive to a better agriculture. He commended the educational work of the county agents in Brazos county and throughout Texas as one of the hopeful signs for the future.

HOODS BRIGADE REUNION IN BRYAN

We have met you again and it goes without saying that we know that we will receive the same courtesy and kindness at this Reunion. In 1861 in the full vigor of a glorious young manhood these old men were fighters rather than writers in the evacuation of Richmond, April 2nd, 1865 a great may of the Military records were lost or destroyed but it is known of men that their record is as good as the best.

There is a letter in the Texas Archives from the Librarian of Congress to the Texas State Librarian asking for information touching Hood's Brigade, it says: "The known statistics of these Regiments is so remarkable that if the missing figures can be obtained it will establish a record equaled by few, if any, organizations in our Civil War or indeed in modern warfare." The missing figures have been found, are now in Washington. Almost 60 years have past since these old soldiers laid down their Enfields under the Apple Tree at Appomattox and the Flag, which for four years they had followed with such chivalrous devotion, went down in darkness and in blood, was buried never to float over the land as a Nation again.

They stood beneath the sinking stars of a doomed cause with a heroism and devotion that would have added new lustre to Rome's Legions in her palmist days.

Now I say to all of you, while justice has never yet been done you for your devotion to your principles and your people, the day will come when shall be told in song and story, how the glory of the Gray never paled before the Blue and the brilliant feats of one American soldier but reflected brighter lustre on the other, you will leave to our children's children a heritage of imperishable glory. Right here let me digress for a moment, in every Arm of the Confederate service there were many soldiers who were as brave individually as any member of Hood's Brigade, there were commands whose records for gallantry was as brilliant as theirs and would not pluck a single leaf from the laurel crown to which every true Confederate is entitled to give it to Hood's Brigade. Nor would they have me do so, there was glory enough for all.

Let us look at another phase of the behavior of our Hero. We are told that Aeneas, the progenitor of Rome after his escape from the fall of Troy was buffeted by wind and wave and seen by cruel fate o'er land and sea seeing his friends and kinsmen fall in death around him, the past Virgil tells us that in his anguish and despair, he cried out "O three and four times py are those who perished beneath the wall of Troy." When the Confederate soldier returned footsore and weary from Appomattox to our desolated home and desecrated altars many of them to find lone chimneys, standing as sentinels and saw his country broken and helpless industries prostrated, fortunes swept away, towns and villages destroyed, friends and kinsmen maimed and slain, mourning and desolation in every household in his land did cry out, "O, thrice happy are they who fell on the death crowned heights of Gettysburg, or the gory fields of Manassas, twice drenched with the best blood of the South or Shiloh or Atlanta." No with that never-ending spirit of his glorious Antioch Saxon race, he said, "I will take up the burden of life again as I find it and will not only restore my Country to the glory and prosperity it had under our fathers but will make it bloom and grow as it never did before.

"In the midst of disaster so unparalleled he had one compensator and only one, for never did royal conqueror returning in all the pomp and circumstance of glorious victory receive a welcome so royal, loving and tender as was given our defeated Hero by the women of the South, for in his door-way, whether of humble cottage or noble mansion that the fortunes of war had spared him like an angel of Hope stood the Southern woman, cheering him on to victories of Peace more glorious and renowned than those of war.

"How did he keep faith with his people? Look around you at your smiling fields, your hill-tops crowned with churches and school houses, your splendid colleges and universities, he has endowed the great cities sea ports and railroads, he has built the magnificent mines and manufacturing, he has developed but far greater than all these look at the onward and upward march of civilization, all these tell you in thunder tones how that man with his heart of gold in his faded jacket of Gray kept the promise he made over 50 years ago. There is another figure we must not overlook, the grandest of them all, call your boyhood, select the fairest flowers from all the earlands we would weave today and lay them aside a tribute to her who baptised our cause with her prayers, and sanctified it to save and participated in the horrors of our great war. In honor of her who as she buckled the sword or knapsack on her hero in gray and gave him one last fond kiss as with tear dimmed eyes and breaking heart she bade him God speed in doing his duty by our Southland, who not only guarded our homes and fire-sides, but fed and clothed us while we faced the invaders in the field. Who endured without murmur or complaint those long weary years of privation and danger, whose hearts were burdened by sufferings yet untold and in spite of murders fire and rapine, clung with determined devotion to our convictions and our country's cause.

"Now if you old heroes are veterans, what is she? Wherein did your service excell hers in point of time, heroism or patriotism? O woman of our Southland, God in his infinite wisdom has made many objects worthy of the admiration of the ages, but none more worthy than you. Fame has placed your names amidst her choicest treasures in the temple of immortality.

"Now let us see how the U. D. C. of today, our daughters and granddaughters acted under the acid test of war, she crossed 3000 miles of ocean, braving imminent dangers of the submarine and the deadly torpedo to get as near as possible to, and even up to the firing line, where she gave first aid to the wounded and even brushed away the death-frost from the lips of many of our heroes who made the Supreme Sacrifice. Out in the hospitals she was found at all times when needed, and all other duties she did with all of her might, and when the war was over we find her back home following in the footsteps of her heroic mothers, in "keeping the record straight" they have the names of over 300,000 descendants of Confederate soldiers in the American army, the majority of them in France. With each year when spring time brings its sunshine and its flowers, she comes bringing her offerings of cypress and pine to lay upon the graves of our dear dead, always reserving a poppy for the boy brother or lover who fell in Flanders Field. God bless them: I love them all with the last pulsation of my heart I shall love them."

HOOD'S BRIGADE IN BRYAN AGAIN IN 1923.

The Immortal Hood's Texas Brigade for the fifth time decided Wednesday morning to hold the 1923 reunion in Bryan, Athens was placed in nomination by telegram and letters and received one vote on the first ballot to 19 for Bryan. Capt. J. K. P. Hanna of Calvert wanted to select Bryan as the headquarters of the Brigade for the life of the association. Judge W. C. Davis, Secretary Sam E. Eberstadt and Jno. A. Moore, Jr. presented the claims of Bryan for the 1923 reunion and the vote was unanimous after Athens had been withdrawn.

The following officers were reelected by acclamation: Captain W. C. Walsh of Austin, president; Captain John C. Roberts of Arcadia, vice president; Rev. W. E. Copeland of Rockdale, chaplain for life and Miss Katie Daffan, of Houston, secretary for life. The re-election of Capt. Walsh and Capt. Roberts was put up by Rev. Copeland and unanimously adopted.

The last session was opened Wednesday morning by President Walsh and Chaplain Copeland offered prayer. Mrs. J. R. Astin was introduced as a daughter of the Confederacy exhibited a photograph given by General John B. Hood to relatives of Mrs. Astin.

Commander Smith's Address.

Hon. Lon A. Smith, of Austin who is State Commander of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, who introduced by District Commander Lee J. Rountree, S. C. V. of Sixth District, and made a splendid talk touching the history of the Southern Confederacy and the war between the States. Commander Smith said it was the purpose of the Sons of Confederate Veterans to preserve and perpetuate a live history for the coming generations so that all men would know the South was right in her great contention for righteous government. He was frequently applauded.

Judge Davis Speaks.

Judge W. C. Davis, of Bryan, was introduced and made a patriotic speech on the history of the conflict, paying a great tribute to Lee, Jackson, Johnston, Hood and the heroes of the South. Judge Davis said it was the unanimous wish of the people of Bryan that Hood's Brigade come back to Bryan for its 1923 reunion.

Dr. O. M. Ball, of A. and M. College, presented a drawing of the famous federal prison of Fort Delaware in which his father was incarcerated and presented it to Miss Daffan for safe keeping to be held by the Daughters of the Confederacy as a memento to Dr. Ball said he treasured the drawing very highly.

On Tuesday the audience heard with great pleasure an instrumental duet by Mrs. Anna Eberstadt and her daughter, Miss Eva Eberstadt, of Jefferson, who are in Bryan visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eberstadt. Both Mrs. Eberstadt and Miss Eberstadt are gifted musicians. Several members gave their experiences at the battle of Gaines Mill, this being the anniversary of that battle. Adjournment was taken to 4 o'clock, during which time the veterans were entertained in the home of the people of Bryan. The annual memorial services were held in the afternoon, the address being delivered by Rev. W. E. Copeland of Rockdale.

Among those having gone to eternal rest since the last reunion were Dr. J. C. Loggins of Ennis and H. Y. Berryman of Alto. Miss Katie Daffan, the life secretary, was met at the train upon her arrival last night by a committee of citizens and is being shown every possible courtesy during her stay in Bryan.

BRAZOS COUNTY BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB DEPT.

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason.

In placing dairy cows at the Brazos county-wide club meeting held at the county agent's home on last Saturday evening five of the twelve boys in the contest scored 100, according to Paul Borlskie who conducted the lesson and contest in judging dairy cattle. These boys were: Henry Kosarek of Smetana, Julian Cobb Earl Buchanan, Charlie McWhorter and Howard Cooper of Tabor. County Agent Beason called attention to the fact that the cow given first place was a grade cow while the others were purebred or registered thus showing that registration within itself does not always mean that such animal is of the best type.

A candidate who recently spent the night with friends in the Brazos bottoms says the 3:30 bell, the going to work at day break, and staying on the job throughout the day with only a short stop for noon, account, in his judgement for the success of farming the Brazos bottoms. Some people will be quick to reply that they can do enough work during eight hours of the day, all of which may be true, but it is not, oftentimes, sufficient. "Enough" means to satisfy, "sufficient" means that which is necessary. Most of us would prefer to work on the shady side of the hill, but many times the grassy crop is beneath a scorching sun.

If the band of club members that met in the county-wide meet last Saturday will attend the Short Course, July 24-29, we will pull off a stunt in old Brazos that will set the pace many days to come. What we you say, club members?

At the monthly meeting of the Brazos county poultry association next Monday night which is to be held at the Chamber of Commerce, Barred Rocks will come in for discussion. Not only those interested in raising Barred Rocks should attend but also all club members who expect or contemplate entering the College during the Short Course. The lessons developed will be helpful to all.

Wellborn community is now on "progress" road. On next Thursday June 29, there will be conducted a canning demonstration, at which time people may learn how to put up beef and other meat products. While cat-

It is so cheap it occurs that it would be wise to store up much of this meat for future use. The Home Demonstration Agent of Grimes county recently reported at College that the farmers of Grimes had canned 176 beavers. That is good work and money saved.

On Saturday night following the canning demonstration on Thursday, the Wellborn people will organize themselves into a community club, the County Agent and others having suggested that by so doing the unoccupied school building might be made to serve a useful purpose in the social religious and economic development of that splendid community. Tabor and Millican, the news just as well be "broke" to you now as later are coming into the game of community building, that which is so closely related to the home—the foundation of our boasted civilization.

In speaking to "Uncle" Jimmie Mathis about his neighbor's fine corn, he (Mathis) replied: "Jim Tobias can make good corn on a house-top." Some confidence. Brother Tobias, you have established in the mind of your good neighbor.

Begin planning now for your farm exhibit for community and county fairs. Touch up your livestock, select the choice of your field crops, and be able to tell your neighbor the story of your success in whatever you have done or undertaken. The farmer deals in no patent processes; the world is welcome to the experience of his years. Thus is progress made while the world grows better. Selfishness retards progress and stifles the nobler sentiments of man.

Editor Lee J. Rountree in delivering the prizes to the winners of the song contest at the recent county-wide club meeting declared that the future of this country did not depend alone on registered cattle, fine horses, and purebred hogs, but on the education and proper training of the boys and girls and that he was delighted to see so many take an active interest in those things most conducive to a better agriculture. He commended the educational work of the county agents in Brazos county and throughout Texas as one of the hopeful signs for the future.
